THE GENERAL MARKET REPORT.

New York, August 17, 1895.
COTTON.—The shorts were stamped in the cotton market this morning, resulting in an advance of 10 points on the calls, with active trading. After the local operators had covered their losses, the market sagged back some from the opening bulge. The market again closed at 14,300, with a price of $18,700 bales. The advance early appeared to be due to the strength in Liverpool, where the market closed firm at 24,260 points advanced, and the cotton market continued to rise. The "Chronicle" weather report was classed as unfavorable, and "Bradstreet's" estimate on the Texas crop was not without merit. The cotton market was still up, although some rain was indicated at a number of Texas towns. Along the Gulf states and South Carolina, heavy rains were reported, still further adding to the cotton market's hold in the districts referred to, where rain has been excessive.

The statistical position as made up by this morning's "Chronicle" is as follows:

This week. Last week. Last year.

VISITABLE supplies 2,004,830 2,006,656 2,144,583

Of which American 2,285,630 2,371,450 1,715,885

Crop, all grades 16,710,700 16,710,700 16,710,700

In sight during week 10,411 9,626 12,355

The amount of cotton which has come into sight the last week is 10,411 bales, against 12,355 for the same week last year, and the increase in the amount in sight compared with the year previous is 100%. The Chicago weather report indicates that the weather has been very warm as a rule during the week. Very little rain has fallen, and the soil is dry, so that no moisture is much needed. There is also complaint of insufficient rainfall from points in Tennessee. On the other hand, the cotton market is continuing to rise, and there has been rather too much rain. In Texas cotton is beginning to open rapidly in consequence of the warm and dry weather, and it is expected to continue to do so, and the close of the season. Cotton worms are claimed in the vicinity of Shreveport, and shooting is reported from some districts of Texas and Mississippi.

Opening, range and close to-day, and closing bids the previous night and last year follow:
